(Revised July 2008)

The Kinship Permanency Incentive(KPI) program is designed to promote a permanent commitment by the kinship caregiver by becoming a guardian and custodian over a minor child who would otherwise be unsafe or at risk of harm if the child remained in their own home. The Kinship Permanency Incentive program provides time-limited incentive payments to families caring for their kin. Eligible families will receive an initial payment of $1,000 per child to defray the costs of initial placement and may receive five hundred dollars per child at each six-month interval to support the stability of the child's placement in the home up to a maximum of $3,500. Participation in this program does not preclude these families from receiving Child Only TANF benefits; time-limited incentive payments are in addition to TANF benefits.

For more information, please contact your local public children services agency or call 1-866-886-3537 (Option 4).

This booklet may be photocopied and distributed by non-profit agencies. Copies must be distributed at no charge to the caregiver. Please contact the Kinship Caregiver Coalition at (937) 775-1116 and advise us how you are using the booklet and how many copies you make. We want to track how many copies are made and distributed. Photo ready copies can be obtained from the above number. Updates to the telephone numbers can be made for your local use without permission.

All information is as accurate as possible at this date. It is, however, subject to change based on state and federal guidelines. June 2005

POWER OF ATTORNEY
CARETAKER AUTHORIZATION AFFIDAVIT

As of July 20, 2004, a new Ohio law creates two new ways for grandparents to obtain “care, physical custody, and control” of grandchildren. This DOES NOT change custody. However, grandparents can enroll children in school and seek medical attention on behalf of the children. There are two different methods:

1. Power of Attorney: If the current legal custodian is in agreement, s/he can complete the Power of Attorney form. This form has to be exercised relative to the best interest of the child and not so that the child can go to a better school or be in a better sports program. That parent needs to complete the packet of materials and notify the non-custodial parent within 5 days. The paperwork is then filed with the Court. At the end of one year, the Montgomery County Court has determined that there will be no extension of the Power of Attorney, but that the matter should be set for a (custody) hearing. The legal custodian can revoke this Power of Attorney at anytime. If the Power of Attorney is revoked a copy of the revocation should be forwarded to the Court and to any school or health care provider who is currently relying on the Power of Attorney. The Power of Attorney does not deal with issues of child support.

2. Caretaker Authorization Affidavit: If for some reason a grandparent can not locate the legal guardian, s/he may sign a notarized affidavit to obtain the “care, physical custody, and control” of a child. This document DOES NOT grant custody but allows for the child to be enrolled in school and receive medical treatment. All of the same rules apply as above. The distinction is that this authorization is based on the inability to locate a parent.

Currently, the Kinship Caregiver Coalition is providing direct assistance with preparation of both of these forms. Legal Aid of Western Ohio will provide notary services and possibly legal advice for difficult cases.

GRANDPARENTS (OR RELATIVES) RAISING GRANDCHILDREN

INFORMATION TO HELP YOU UNDERSTAND RIGHTS &
BENEFITS ASSOCIATED WITH DIFFERENT TYPES OF CUSTODIAL ARRANGEMENTS¹

Introduction:

When a grandparent² assumes responsibility for a grandchild, a variety of legal relationships may be created. Each one carries certain privileges, benefits, rights, and responsibilities. On one end of the spectrum, the grandparent may simply have physical possession of the child. This is the situation that may be present when no legal arrangements have been made to transfer custody from a biological parent or legal guardian and no agency has officially placed the child with the grandparent. When circumstances require that a child be removed from the home of a parent and Montgomery County Children Services (MCCS) becomes involved, a grandparent may be called upon to provide care for the child. In such situations, the court will typically give custody to the grandparent.

Temporary custody is a status that may be granted by the courts, typically the juvenile courts, to award grandparent custody for up to one year unless terminated earlier or extended by the court for a maximum of two years. Legal custody is another arrangement that may be created that provides the grandparent with rights to make most decisions for the child and is a fairly stable arrangement. In other circumstances, permanent custody may be granted to

² The term “grandparent” here refers to any relative other than the natural parent providing total care for a child.

Children Services when all other relative resources have been exhausted. Adoption is the most complete and permanent of custodial transfers. By adopting, the grandparent, or adoptive “parent,” becomes fully responsible for the child and acquires virtually the same rights and responsibilities as a natural parent.

The charts that follow are designed to provide an overview of the different rights and benefits that may be available for each type of custodial arrangement. The information in this guide is intended as a summary of possible benefits that may be available to you under different custodial arrangements. For specific legal advice about which legal status may be best for you, please consult an attorney.
